Tasmanian court documents reveal two emergency services employees were called to the Oasis Aquatic Centre to treat the baby at about 11.40am on February 7, 2017. They took the baby to the Wimmera Health Care Centre and left the child, who was aged eight months, unattended in a children's playpen in the centre's car park for approximately six minutes, before leaving the car for an unknown period of time. The baby was then retrieved by a member of the public.After the major embarrassment the U.S. suffered in Paris at the hands of France's President Emmanuel Macron in November 2017, America's relationship with France has been tense ever since. The French may not seem to notice or even care about the country's declining standing among its allies, but America's President Donald Trump seems to care quite a bit about it. In a telling example of America's waning respect, Trump has made it clear that he has no intention of going to the summit in Paris next month to commemorate the centennial anniversary of the end of World War I. "I was invited, and I would certainly go if I could," Trump said in an interview with The New York Times published on Wednesday. "I would say 'Yes.'" "The big thing is, I know Emmanuel," Trump continued. "I have a good relationship with him. But I'm going to be the one to decide whether I'll be going to Paris or whether I'll be going to another place. I have to decide. And it's up to me." Given that he was in Paris when Macron visited in November, Trump could have just as easily opted for the gathering in the 2d92ce491b
