A: The only solution to this problem is to use good signature-less or browser-specific anti-virus software. Otherwise any malware you find while visiting the site will not have anything to validate for you, and by the time you have a clean browser your address bar will have already been altered and you won't be able to navigate your browser correctly. And this is why browsers normally have an option for ignoring "safe sites" like adult sites (and usually they check a user's age before allowing the setting to be changed). So you can see that this is the outcome of a decision by the browsers' makers. Note that this is a problem that is not going to go away unless users demand it! There are various workarounds, and in this day and age this is getting easier as malware has grown more sophisticated, but at present it is a problem not a fault. This is how the internet works, and nothing will be done about it. March 19, 2014 Billy Eichner, the comedian and actor who won a Golden Globe and an Emmy for his starring role in the excellent HBO series Billions, will be the host for a new stand-up show from Bobby Moynihan called The NYLON JEWELry at the Union Square Theatre on Thursday, March 26. Moynihan has been busy since the show's last incarnation, in 2011, and will have a pretty exciting set. His new
