We stayed in a bungalow on the outskirts of the city, which is not only will make children feel at home, but will also delight them with its tranquility. We purchased it so that Sasha and Kolya would have a place to explore the surroundings. And so it happened that they travel through this part of the city from one end to the other, and we calmly cook food and even hide from the sun. Unlike Marie, Kolya and Sasha do not need to be constantly on the alert: they sleep where they want and when they want, and our house is a refuge for us and for them. On August 8, we decided to visit the fabulous waterfall, which is located on the beaches of Otavi and Kurumbi. Then we opened for me a stunning view of the same beach, which I look at from the window of the house. From there you can also see the rainforest and the lake. Tropical forest on palm trees. On the twelfth of August I woke up because Sasha and Kolya were chatting incessantly. For the first time in my life, I was not interested in them. They never stopped talking about their childhood adventures. Once I even fell asleep. I still remember their loud laughter and sonorous voices - to this day. On this day we visited a village where Europeans live. Surprisingly, we did not meet anyone on the street! We constantly went from house to house - to smack the owners. We got the attention of the dogs. We gladly accepted treats from young ladies riding a bicycle - also for the first time. What I liked about them was that I could be alone with them and feel like I belonged. For the first time I pressed my cheek against Sasha, and then I crept into his room and went to sleep in his bed. It seems to me that I did not fall asleep even at night, in the forest, when we walked to the next house. When we were having lunch in a restaurant, Sasha smiled and said: "Now we have to talk about the most important thing.

Listen, when you were little and you had the same soft lips as I have now, then in childhood we were both on the clouds. What do you think happened next?" I laughed. If only I knew the answer to this question! I don't remember anything from that time. Sasha thought and added: "But I still have hair!" And that was far from the most surprising thing that day. The four of us laughed and couldn't stop. On the thirteenth of August we went home. I enjoyed walking the streets, choosing places where I could
