This free, handy tool is used by developers to create their signature shortcuts. A welcome shortcut to the folder of the software framework for widgets. This is a tip about the new firmware update for the - Samsung MP3 player P772. Because of some bugs, certain Samsung phones and tablets lacked some important features for example you can not purchase music from within the player itself. Usually this causes that you purchase your music from the store and the player will play this music. But this is of course not what we would like. Some users noticed that their music cannot be purchased now and instead of that a button to "purchase" is there! This is a bug, and not a feature, because normally the purchase function should be still working. I have not tested the new firmware update, but I can tell you that the purchase function is NOT working! After the update your music will not be playable anymore. I dont know if this has an influence on other devices. But it seems, if your device is not working with the new update, you will get an error message. Are you affected by this bug? What do you think? The new Motorola Atrix HD is the first phone to introduce a mobile Hotspot feature. This is a very useful feature and it allows you to share your mobile data with other devices. But a problem occurs when you use your phone as a mobile hotspot. It uses the wireless network of your phone provider. This means if you use your phone as a mobile hotspot your data will be very expensive! Not everybody has a service plan for using their mobile phone as a mobile hotspot! It's possible to avoid these costs by using your phone as a mobile hotspot via a USB dongle. Therefore, you can use your own plan for using your phone as a mobile hotspot. This is cheaper, because you will not have to buy a service plan for using your phone as a mobile hotspot on your phone provider. It's very simple to use the USB dongle, but it's also possible to use it without using any Windows-program. If you are interested, see these instructions of my friend Mark Debon - I can recommend him! Note: If the device is connected with your b7e8fdf5c8

Yahoo! Widgets is the framework used by most of Yahoo!'s online applications and offered to its users via a browser widget. Users can even install their own application widgets. This software framework created by the company's online department allows them to carry their favorite widgets and applications to almost any other available computer. This is done by downloading a single file, which automatically enters the Installer, once the application is opened. From here, users can launch a wizard to distribute widgets, either directly to the computer's desktop or to the main window. Additionally, users can even easily configure the widgets and remove the ones they're no longer interested in. As of today, the framework is still being maintained by the company to update it with new features and bug fixes. Key features: - Direct downloads and support of widgets for Yahoo! Widget Engine. - Highly customizable. - Easy management of all the widgets installed at your computer. - View and remove all the installed widgets at a single glance. - Support for Mac OS X and Windows OS.
